Gov. Leader Ousts Four Farview State Hospital Trustees

Dismissed Upon Refusal To Resign

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader today dismissed four trustees of the Farview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane in the new administration's campaign to revamp the state-owned hospitals.

The governor acted at the request of Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro who previously had asked the four trustees to resign. They refused.

Removed from office, effective immediately, as trustees of the Wayne County state institution were:

R. Russell Eshback, Bushkill; Lester F. Burlein, Honesdale; Alfred Williams, Scranton; and Samuel Dreter, Mayfield.

Shapiro asked the resignations of the four in what he termed another step in a campaign to clean up "miserable conditions" in state-owned hospitals.

Leader's action was sparked by a letter from Shapiro in which the welfare secretary said the meetings of the board had "degenerated into a meeting place for the exchange and barter of jobs for the advancement of politicians."

The letter said that while the board consists of nine Republican members, four of them, "though in the minority, by virtue of the political power of the two county chairmen dominate the control and management of the institution, including the appointment of all personnel."

Eshback is Pike County GOP chairman and Burlein is GOP chairman in Wayne County.

Referring to what he described as the "political setup" at Farview, Shapiro wrote Leader that "this reprehensible situation brought about the most harrowing and most intolerable conditions."

"Within recent months three patients were so brutally beaten that one of them died and the other two escaped death, after hospitalization, by a miracle."

In other action, Shapiro called for detailed inventory of all material and equipment at state-owned hospitals. The inventory usually is taken at the close of the fiscal year, May 31.

He also directed the superintendents of the hospitals to furnish him with statements of monthly consumption of major items purchased.

Search Widens For Killer Of Serge Rubinstein

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—New data was turned up today on the scene of Serge Rubinstein's murder as probes widened the scope of the most sensational New York mystery of a decade.

As a result of new information, Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander, Her- man told reporters:

"New and more witnesses are being sought."

Some detectives have been dispatched outside New York, Her- man said, in connection with the case. But he wouldn't say where.

Rubinstein, international financier and playboy, had wide business and social connections, including some in high places in Hollywood and Las Vegas, Nev.

Shapiro Advises State Hospital Employees Jobs Will Not Be Disturbed By 'Politics'

WELFARE SECRETARY Harry Shapiro's adamant stand against politics on boards of trustees of state hospitals, especially Farview Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Waymart, Pa., is apparently matched by an equally positive policy that the "little fellows" who are employed by the institution shall not be disturbed by "politics" if they perform their duties efficiently.

R. LeRoy Dengler, Mount Pocono, the chairman of the board of trustees who with three other trustees have been given Shapiro's approval, yesterday dismissed the welfare secretary's position on employees at Farview.

Senate Okays Southeast Asia Defense Pact

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Senate ratified the Southeast Asia defense treaty today. The pact links the United States with seven other nations in a new front against any Communist aggression in the Far East.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, called for swift action on the treaty as a signal "to any Communist country planning any aggression that they will have to reckon with the United States." The Senate ratified it after a short debate.

Only Sen. Langer (R-ND) voted "no." He told the Senate he thought this country "ought to mind its own business and keep out of foreign entanglements all over Europe and Asia."

The treaty is aimed at blocking external aggression and internal subversion in an area which embraces the Asian territory of Pakistan, Thailand, South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. Treaty territory also includes The Philippines and British and French possessions in the Southwest Pacific.

Signatories are the United States, Great Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, The Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand.

Princess Lands At Trinidad On Start Of Tour

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb. 1 (AP)—Radiant Princess Margaret stepped from a silvery airliner amid the cheers of a shirt-sleeved crowd of 5,000 today to begin a month's royal tour of the British West Indies.

The temperature stood at 86 degrees and the sun shone brightly in sharp contrast to the blustery cold she left yesterday in London. The princess is making a royal good will tour of her own for the first time. It also is her first visit to the New World.

The 24-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth II was the first to leave the airliner at 3 p.m. (2 p.m. EST). The crowd cheered and waved flags.

The princess put her right hand over her tiny hat to keep it from sailing away in the breeze that swept the sun-drenched airport. A few drops of rain had fallen earlier in the day, but by the time the airliner Canopus touched down the sky had cleared.

Dengler released a wire received by Dr. John P. Shovlin, superintendent of the hospital regarding employees, after being advised by Mr. Shapiro that "you can use it any way you want to."

The wire, which was read to all Farview employees and posted for their benefit, advised Dr. Shovlin:

"Under the law, the selection, employment, and dismissal of all employees under the superintendent are in the first instance vested in the superintendent."

"In order to quiet any feelings of insecurity in the personnel under me, I wish you would say to all of them that none of them

Reorganization Measure, Renewal Of State Taxes Win Approval Of House

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Democratic House, keeping its slender majority in line, passed the first controversial legislation of the 1955 session today — Gov. George M. Leader's government reorganization bill and renewing so-called temporary taxes.

The action sent both of them to the Senate, where the reorganization bill faced downright opposition in that Republican-controlled branch and the tax bills a long wait in the Senate Finance Committee.

Republicans and Democrats argued the merits of the reorganization plan for more than two hours before passing it 107-84, with only two votes to spare since 106 were needed.

By contrast, the tax bills representing some 400 million dollars of the state's revenue for a two year period, were passed without debate in the hurry to end a six-hour session.

The reorganization bill would give the governor broad powers to reshuffle state agencies of the executive department, subject to a veto by either branch of the Legislature.

Republicans argued it gave the executive "dictatorial and blank check" powers. Democrats insisted it represented a method of reorganizing the executive department "rather than talking about it."

The vote on most of the temporary taxes was 107-78 but that on the measure continuing two cents of the five cents a gallon gasoline tax was 184-1, with Rep. Charles A. Auker (R-Blair) casting the only dissenting vote. Said Auker:

"There is no necessity at this time for any revenue measure and certainly the Highways Department is not sacred to be treated differently than any other department."

Rep. Charles C. Smith, the Republican floor leader, said the GOP minority supported the gasoline tax bill because it involved state highway funds and was outside the budget.

Leader asked for quick action on the tax bills so that tax anticipation notes could be issued against their revenue. Republicans, however, cried "What's the rush," arguing the present law extends them until May 31, end of the biennium.

The Republicans claimed the administration's entire tax program to finance the Commonwealth's 1½ billion dollar plus budget, along with the budget itself, should be before the Assembly before action is taken on any taxes. The governor has yet to inform the House of his plans to raise 400 to 500 millions in new taxes, by his own estimate, to balance the budget.

Bill To Remove Jobless Benefit Cuts Introduced

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1 (AP)—Republicans beat Democrats to the punch today in getting a bill into the General Assembly to remove the "peril point" from Pennsylvania's unemployment compensation law.

The measure was introduced in the Senate while Democrats continued to work on a measure they will present in the House, where they hold a voting majority.

The bill will remove a clause providing for an automatic decrease in maximum jobless benefits and an increase in employers' payroll taxes when the reserve fund falls to a certain level.

Need have any fear for the position which they occupy unless, in your opinion, they are not performing their duties efficiently and in the best interests of the people in your charge. This department will back you up in all your efforts to make your institution serve the purpose for which it was created, and to begin as soon as possible to staff the institution adequately and competently in all its functions."

"I'm positive he means what he says, and if he wants to keep politics out of the Farview operation, which he obviously is, I'm sure he has my full cooperation," Mr. Dengler said yesterday.

John L. Lewis attacks TVA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—John L. Lewis lashed out at the Tennessee Valley Authority today, saying it creates "starvation" wage levels in its area by using its huge buying power to beat down soft coal prices.

The United Mine Workers president said such purchase practices could lead the country into "a pushcart economy."

Lewis said that except for TVA buying policies, the UMW never would have had to ask Secretary of Labor Mitchell to invoke the Walsh-Healey Act and put a wage floor on coal dug to fill government contracts.

Cold Weather Due This Month

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Weather Bureau anticipates that February will be colder than normal in the eastern half of the country.

"Precipitation, much of it in the form of snow, is expected to exceed normal in states along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts," the bureau said today.

Red Targets Hammered On Yikiangshan

TAIPEI, Formosa, Wednesday, Feb. 2 (AP)—Nationalist warplanes struck last night at Chinese Red targets on Yikiangshan, the tiny island just north of the Tachen Islands which the Nationalists may evacuate with U. S. 7th Fleet help.

The raid kept alive throughout the night the string of air and sea clashes which flared yesterday in the Tachen area.

Official reports said the Yikiangshan raid caused damage to military targets. The bombers carried out their mission despite intense antiaircraft fire and all returned to Formosa, the reports added.

The U. S. 7th Fleet cruised off Formosa while awaiting orders to help bring off the Nationalist garrison and civilians on the Tachen Islands.

U. N. Gives China Week To Decide

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—U. N. Security Council delegates agreed unofficially today to give Red China a week to decide whether to take part in crucial debates here on a cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld dispatched last night to Peking an invitation from the Council to the Communist Chinese premier and foreign minister, Chou En-lai.

The Council set no deadline for a reply. But one key delegate said today the Council will have to decide what to do if no response is received early next week.

The consensus appeared to be that Chou would send a representative.

Some Asian quarters were discussing the possibility of a meeting of five big powers, if a cease-fire is attained, in order to work out a settlement of the Far Eastern situation. These sources refused to be quoted but they seemed to be talking in terms of a meeting in Geneva or New Delhi of the United States, Britain, France, Soviet Union and Red China, with India perhaps serving in some role.

If the Reds ignore the invitation, it was said, the Council then will have to go ahead and approve a resolution for a cease-fire without their participation in the debate.

Stolen Car, Truck Collide

A STOLEN SCRANTON car was involved in a collision with a tractor-trailer truck, owned and operated by Walter A. Warner, 16 N. Fourth St., Stroudsburg, 22 miles south of Wilkes-Barre on Route 115 at 4 p. m. yesterday. There were no injuries.

Two juveniles from Scranton and Slatington were occupants of the stolen car owned by Eugene Potash of Scranton.

The crash occurred when the car attempted to pull back into line after failing to pass the truck. The car struck the rear of the trailer causing damage estimated at $10. Damages to the car totaled $200.

School Pupils Among Victims Of Tornadoes

MEMPHIS, Feb. 1 (AP)—Tornadoes lashed the Mid-South with a deadly wallop today, killing at least 25 persons, many of them school-children.

The twisters, spawned by a massive squall line that turned after noon into midnight, struck in Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama—but hardest in Mississippi.

The highway patrol said 22 were killed in the area around Commerce Landing, Miss., about 35 miles south of here. Three more perished near Olive Branch, Miss. The cluster of storms drew a deadly head on schools. Each Mississippi twister thundered over an elementary school building.

At Commerce Landing, W. V. France said the Leatherhood Plantation School disappeared before his eyes, as though a giant hand had snatched it up, tossing wreckage and bodies into the boiling clouds.

"Afterward men and women came to the spot and after while they would find a child and come crying up the road with it in their arms," he said. "It doesn't seem possible anybody got out, but they say two little boys did."

The tornadoes, ripping away communication lines, added confusion to the wake of death and destruction.

The highway patrol said the death list was difficult to confirm, and there was no accurate estimate of the injured.

Most of the Commerce Landing injured were taken to nearby Tunica, where the 25-bed hospital was jammed. Volunteers, some of them pretty girls in party dresses, were called in to help the hospital staff.

Tunica hospital officials said many of the 85 injured under treatment in the corridors, on makeshift mattresses and cots, were in critical condition.

The twisters, heralded by a violent weather forecast, first struck in the Marianna, Ark., area—about 40 miles southwest of Memphis.

The last one hit tonight, hopping through the Tennessee Valley area around Huntsville, Ala., about 225 miles to the east. Nine were injured.

A thumbnail outline from the scenes of earlier storms:

1. Twenty-two dead reported at Commerce Landing, about 50 houses destroyed on the Leatherman and Abbey plantations, including a Negro school with an enrollment of 45. The teacher and several students were among the dead.

2. The second Mississippi tornado plowed through a rural area near Olive Branch, a small town about 18 miles south of Memphis, demolishing a Negro elementary school. A teacher and at least two children were killed.

3. In Arkansas, in the vicinity of Marianna—some 40 miles southwest of Memphis—a hop-scotch tornado caused considerable rural damage but apparently took no lives.

STROUDSBURG FIREMEN had a hot answer for the age-old question "Where's the fire?" yesterday morning. It was in the borough fire hall. A box which protects the alarm's mechanism from frigid weather caught fire when an electric heater proved faulty.

Fire Chief Discovers Fire In Fire Siren At Firehouse

THE STROUDSBURG fire whistle almost burned up yesterday.

At 10:40 a.m. a blaze broke out in the box which protects the alarm's pressure-reducing valve.

The fire department keeps an electric heater in the protective area to keep the whistle from freezing in cold weather.

Fire Chief Millard Marsh discovered the fire. Marsh is a borough mailman.

While he was walking his daily route on N. Sixth St., Marsh looked ed up Sarah St. and saw smoke from the cupola which encloses the alarm.

The fire chief ran to the fire hall, pulled the alarm box there. About 40 firemen came to the rescue; put the fire out in about 10 minutes.

The whistle was saved. Marsh said last night that the fire damaged the box around the alarm; caused minor damage to copper tubing in the alarm mechanism.

Apparent cause of the fire, Marsh said, was a defective thermostat on the electric heater.

Republicans Told To Quit Or Be Fired

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1 (AP)—Six Republican holdover officials got an ultimatum today from Gov. George M. Leader to resign or be fired in a move to end an impasse with the Senate over confirmation of his appointees to their jobs.

Three of those given the ultimatum indicated they would stand pat and leave the next move up to the governor. They were Chairman Frederick T. Gelder and David R. Perry, of the Liquor Control Board and Malcolm B. Pettkin, of the state Labor Relations Board.

Voluntary resignation, Perry said, would mean losing his state pension benefits after 20 years of service.

The other Republican holdover officials involved in the situation are Chairman Raymond A. Cox and Louis J. Conley of the state Securities Commission, and Leo J. Knoll of the state Workmen's Compensation Board.

Weatherman Predicts Snow For Groundhog Day Today

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1 (AP)—In the chill dawn of tomorrow a lot of stalwart citizens, escaping from daily routine, will be cutting fantastic capers over the Pennsylvania landscape.

Well before daybreak they'll be on the go, afoot, or horseback, in station wagons and convertibles. They'll lug strange instruments and mysterious gear into tranquil thickets and down picturesque ravines. They'll be spying on little animals, peeking down holes, making like seers. And their grotesque costumes will give all nature the willies.

For it's Groundhog Day and the annual antics are with us again.

Groundhog Day rituals have reached the peak of refinement in at least four places in Pennsylvania—Lancaster County, the vintown region, Punxsutawney and the Philadelphia orbit.

U. S. Air-Sea Units To Back Chiang Troops

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower assured today he foresees no need for use of American ground forces in defending Formosa and its outposts.

GOP leaders in both Houses spent 2 hours and 15 minutes with the President at the White House. Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican chief, said the group was "briefed" on the Formosa situation and discussed it in general terms.

From another source, it was learned that Eisenhower assured the congressional group that there is no present or likely future need for American ground troops.

He was said to have added that equipment and supplies are being rushed to bring the Nationalist Chinese divisions under Chiang Kai-shek up to top fighting form. Some of these divisions were reported as fully equipped but others as needing weapons and supplies.

Some members of Congress earlier had made it clear they were disturbed by reported testimony of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, that a division of American troops might be needed to help defend the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu. Ridgway was said to have made the statement to the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees at a closed session last week.

The fight-if-we-must resolution overwhelmingly passed by Congress last week authorized the President to use American forces and weapons to defend Formosa, the Pescadores Islands and "related positions and territories."

The President was reported to have made it clear at today's conference he regards this as covering the defense of Quemoy and Matsu, which command mainland ports of Amoy and Foochow from which invasion fleets might be launched against Formosa.

Eisenhower was said to have indicated he believes Chinese Nationalist land forces are sufficient on these islands, if supported by American sea and air units.

Conferees said there was no discussion of possible evacuation of the Tachen Islands farther north, but other members of Congress said it was their understanding that American units would cover such an evacuation within the next two weeks.

Although Knowland declined to say whether he thinks the situation in the Formosa Strait is better today than before the President asked Congress a week ago to approve the defend-Formosa resolution, it was reported that Eisenhower and his advisers viewed the situation with some optimism.

11 Children, Father Of 5 Die In Fire

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—An oil-fired fire today killed 11 children and a father and destroyed the tenement where they lived.

The children, members of three families, ranged between six months and 14 years.

Their deaths brought to 49—nearly all of them children—the number of lives lost in fires in the nation last three days.

Police said the fire broke out at about 12:55 a.m. when oil seeping from a space heater ignited in one of the building's eight apartments. The flames spread rapidly through the wooden interior and set off an oil drum in the cellar.

Among the dead were Juan Rivera, 40, a glove liner, and his five children. The mother, Maria Rivera, 38, was in a hospital for treatment of stomach ulcers. The Rivera children were: John, 14, Ilda, 11, Domingo, 9, Angel, 5, and a one-year-old son.

The other dead were: John Motyka, 12, and three sisters, Ann, 14, Patricia, 9, and Veronica, 6, children of Stanley Motyka, 46, a rug worker whose wife died two years ago; and Donna Henton, 3, and her sister, Marion, 6 months, children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Henton.

COINCIDENTALLY with the kick-off of the 1955 Heart Fund drive hereabouts, these three Stroudsburg Woman's Club members got together to prepare plastic heart-shaped coin boxes for placement in strategic stores, businesses. In group were Mrs. Francis Shinn, Mrs. Jack Shinn and Mrs. A. Byrd McDowell. (Staff Photo by Carlton)

Anthracite Conciliator Gives Talk

MEMBERS OF THE Lions Club of the Stroudsburg were given a comprehensive history of the handling of labor disputes in the anthracite industry as they have arisen during the past fifty years.

The guest speaker was Dr. Thomas Larkin, a resident of Buck Hill who for the past 17 years has held the post of umpire of the Anthracite Board of Conciliation. Dr. Larkin told how the present system of settling labor differences is basically the same as that which was used in England and Wales as long as two hundred years ago.

The late President Theodore Roosevelt prevailed upon the miners and coal operators to adopt a report published by the now extinct National Civic Federation, as a basis for setting up machinery to adjust violent labor disturbances which had come about during the coal strike of 1903. The report in question was one made as the result of a thorough study of the English negotiating plan by the Civic Federation. With very little alteration the original plan is still successfully used in the coal industry, Dr. Larkin declared.

John Regan Sr., Stroudsburg and Fred Dykeman, Bay Ridge, N. J. were guests.

Heart Fund Workers Place Coin Collection Boxes Here

WORKERS FOR THE 1955 Heart Fund yesterday distributed 150 plastic coin boxes.

The boxes, made in the shape of a red heart, were placed in stores, banks and business houses throughout the county.

Distribution of the boxes was supervised by Mrs. A. Byrd McDowell, Mrs. Francis Shinn, Mrs. Jack Shinn and Mrs. Morton Barrow of the Stroudsburg Woman's Club, sponsor of the fund drive.

Mrs. Grant Knowles and Mrs. Harry Weiss, of the Progressive Women's Club of Saylorsburg are in charge of coin box distribution in that area.

The 1955 Heart Fund has a goal of $3,000 in Monroe County. Mrs. Samuel Wells, chairman of this year's drive, said yesterday that "we are certain that the excellent cooperation of local management in allowing us to place the coin boxes in prominent, attractive spots in their places of business will help us attain a greater total from the coin boxes than last year's."

A house-to-house canvass will highlight the Heart Fund drive on Monday, Feb. 21—"Heart Monday."

Pack Charter Presented To Cub Scouts

RAILROADING was the theme at a recent meeting of Scouts of Cub Pack 84 held in Hamilton Township School. The group is sponsored by the Cherry Valley Methodist Church.

There are four dens of the pack. Included in the displays were model trains, built by the boys. A model railroad display, scrapbooks, and other items of interest. The Cub Scouts of Den 1 were awarded by Jay Snover, of the area council, assisted by Cubmaster Snyder. The mothers and fathers of the Cub Scouts stood back of their sons during the latter part of the ceremony and pinned the badge on their son after it was received.

Parents, leaders and 32 Cub Scouts were grouped about a camp fire for the meeting during which Dr. Francis B. McGarry, chairman of the organization and Extension Committee of the Pocono District of the Delaware Valley Area Council of Boy Scouts of America, presented the Pack Charter to Rev. C. Clyde Levergood, pastor of the sponsoring church who then turned it over to Andrew Keiser, institutional representative.

Victor Hoehne, volunteer worker for the area council, presented certificates and pins to Cubmaster, A. Richard Snyder; Assistant Cubmaster, Russell Bond; Committee members, Elmer L. Viety, Eugene Shupp, and John Edinger; Den mothers, Henrietta Bond and Thelma Field, of Den 1; Corona Keiser and Marian Haney, of Den 2; Gwen Steele and Karlene Muddell, of Den 3; and Lillian Rous, of Den 4.

An impressive Bobcat induction ceremony was held opening with the beating of tom-toms by the Denners around the camp fire, after which the Cub Scouts formed a circle around them. Bobcat pins were awarded by Jay Snover, of the area council, assisted by Cubmaster Snyder. The mothers and fathers of the Cub Scouts stood back of their sons during the latter part of the ceremony and pinned the badge on their son after it was received.

Boys who were awarded the Bobcat pins were: Wayne Bond, David Edinger, Allan Mader, James Possinger, Barry Schuler, Henry Schollhammer, Carl Shafer, and David Wilkins, of Den 1; Gregory Gumm, James Hahn, Robert Haney, Austin Keiser, David Shupp, Thomas Veety, John Krause and George Van Buskirk, of Den 2; Stanley Bak, Elmer Albert, John Albert, Larry Flick, and Donald Steele, of Den 3; Dean Felner, Herbert Gower, William Getten Jr., John Kern, William Martucci, John Mills, Miles Reinhardt, John Sniffin, Donald Rinker, Willard Tallada and Frank Wernett, of Den 4.

Songs and yells were given by the Cub Scouts under the direction of Mrs. Steele and games were played, supervised by Explorer Scout Rous.

Cubmaster Snyder met briefly with the den mothers and plans to hold a Blue and Gold banquet on Feb. 26 were discussed and a decision was reached to serve the meal at 6 p.m., pot luck style.

Plans were completed for participation of Pack 84 in the Cavalcade of Scouting to be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel garage on Feb. 12.

Refreshments of cookies and beverages were served by Den 1.

Stock Average Hits Second Highest Peak

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—The stock market pursued an irregularly higher course today after its strong push yesterday into new high ground.

Steels were strong and rails were weak. Aircrafts were clipped by profit-taking but large gains remained nevertheless. Oils were higher while chemicals were mixed. Motors were quietly mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks yesterday gained $1.10 and passed the Jan. 3 high. Today it was up 20 cents at $156.80, the second highest level on record, topped only by the all-time peak of $157.70 of Sept. 3, 1929.

The irregular movement of the market was shown by the gain of 50 cents in the industrial component at a new high of $216.70 while the railroads fell 60 cents and the utilities advanced 40 cents to a new high of $68.90.

It was just about a tossup between gains and losses with 512 up and 492 down while 96 new highs and 1 new low for 1954-55 were established.

Volume diminished as the market milled around and came to 3,320,000 shares. That compares with 3 1/2 million shares traded yesterday.

American Bosch Arms headed the most active list off 1/2 at 18 on 74,100 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 1,040,000 shares. That compares with 1,550,000 shares traded yesterday. The bond market was irregular. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were higher.

Recreational Facilities

While Pennsylvania has many parks and picnic areas, there is need for a considerable expansion of their number rather than for enlargement of the existing facilities.

The Poconos, where the flood of visitors is greatest, can well use more of such facilities.

This is the opinion of the newly appointed Secretary of Forests and Waters, Maurice K. Goddard, who knows whereof he speaks and who is extremely enthusiastic about such development whereby families can get away from the city streets and relax in the enjoyment of Pennsylvania's great outdoor spaces.

As the former director of the forestry school of Penn State University, Mr. Goddard knows whereof he speaks, for he is thoroughly familiar with the great forest lands of our commonwealth, which cover 52 per cent of the state's entire land area.

The tremendous increase in the use of Pennsylvania's recreation facilities in the past several years alone is sufficient reason for Mr. Goddard's desire that they be expanded to keep pace with the demand. Explaining that in the years 1950-1952 some seven million people took advantage of the outdoor areas, he emphasized that during the next two years thereafter the number increased by 100 per cent, making it obvious why further expansion of the facilities be undertaken.

We can think of few more desirable programs than that, Pennsylvania is known throughout the union as one of the most beautiful of all the states, although it must be admitted with regret that there are still many native Pennsylvanians who have visited but a small section of the commonwealth.

In these busy, nerve-trying days, it is well for families to get out in the country when the pleasant seasons beckon them away from the cities. Let's have a real program of development along these lines.

More Pay, No Nepotism

Once more the push is on for a large increase in the salaries of members of Congress. We have no objection to more pay for our law-makers. But—

If they are going to raise their pay, the members of Congress should put a stop to hiring their own relatives.

Congressmen now get $15,000 a year, free office space in Washington, free office space at home at least part of the time, office help, office machinery, stationery, free mailing privileges for their official business, and transportation to and from each session of Congress.

They have an old-age pension system. In Washington, when they are ill, they are treated at military hospitals for fees much less than other citizens pay.

When they die in office, their widows get a year's salary, in addition to the pension. Many of them travel abroad at taxpayer expense.

So isn't it a little impudent, on top of all this, to fasten a member of the family on the payroll, too?

The new pay-raiser, if it passes, should offer ripe opportunity for putting an end to an old but odorous practice.

Speed

Defense officials in Washington say the Armed Forces now are developing guided missiles which can travel 5000 miles in 33 minutes.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

There's So Much Legislation Passed By Congress Its Significance Is Missed

No much legislation is passed by Congress that the significance of some measures is missed at the time of passage. The effects of the Act only become apparent in time. And often there are clauses and paragraphs which, in practice, mean more than hits the eye as it wanders through the verbiage of legislation. One such law is the National Wool Act of 1954, which opens the door to nefarious procedures.

It is understood that the promoters of this Act were L. M. Pexton of Denver and Robert Franklin who acted for the National Wool Growers Association.

The sheep industry, it is true, deteriorated before World War II, and during the war, with supplies cut off from Australia, there was a shortage which encouraged many to buy ranges and to grow sheep. Wool was protected by the tariff in the normal manner. When it became clear that under the Eisenhower Administration it would be impossible to raise the tariff on wool and mohair because the trend of tariff legislation would be downward on the general basis of a "trade not aid" program, the wool growers turned to other means to protect their industry.

The plan was evolved to get special legislation to benefit wool and this was done in a manner which opens the door wide for bad practices that require further investigation by Congress. For instance, the price support on shorn wool is fixed not to exceed 110 percent of parity. Rigid price supports were generally regarded as high at 90 percent of parity, and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson considered this too high and labored valiantly for flexible price supports. These wool growers over-reached themselves by demanding and getting 110 percent of parity plus tariff protection.

But they go further than that. Section 708 opens the door to a check-off to trade associations which, if it spreads, can be damaging to the American economy. Note the following:

"The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to enter into agreements with, or to approve agreements entered into between, marketing cooperatives, trade associations, or others engaged or whose members are engaged in the handling of wool, mohair, sheep, or goats or the products thereof for the purpose of development and conducting on a National, State, or regional basis advertising and sales promotion programs for wool, mohair, sheep, or goats or the products thereof."

This promotion fund can only be used after the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that at least two-thirds of the producers approve of such action. Now, I hear that turkey growers are after such a fund and it will not be long before those interested in other commodities will be finding ways to do the same. It is bad legislation. In days before doles, check-offs, welfare fund royalties and similar devices were employed, this would be called "honest graft" for a trade association.

The National Wool Growers Association in a pamphlet states, referring to "... a conference which President Ray W. Wiloughby had with President Eisenhower" early in 1954 that "In that conference President Eisenhower made it very plain that the present Administration would not sanction tariff increases. He stated that our Nation could not afford to risk a possible misunderstanding over a matter of a few million dollars' increase in tariff which might nullify the billions now being spent for global defense of which no small part is international good will."

Several American industries find themselves in the same position as the wool growers. This is true of lead and zinc, of watches, ceramic ware, wallboards, electrical equipment, etc. Such industries are already suffering, some severely, from the tariff policies of this Administration.

Suppose each one of them followed the procedures of the National Wool Growers Association and went to Congress for a special act, providing not only price supports but a check-off for the trade association! We should have a National Zinc and Lead Act, a National Watches Act, etc., etc., and there would always be slick lawyers to add a novel clause which each would copy. It would not be long before price supports would not only be provided for agriculture but for industry as well. The entire economy would be on a dole with check-offs for trade associations.

It is surely time for Congress to study these problems with some idea to scientific investigation rather than partisan advantage.

Finds Sanctuary Because Teen-Agers Tie Up Lines

Many's the time I have wished I had a nice comfortable retreat where I could go and work in peace or just sit and vegetate, and where I couldn't be reached by telephone.

Well, at last I've got it. I never would have believed I'd find it eventually right at home.

From late afternoon until 10 o'clock at night nobody has any more chance of reaching me or my wife by telephone than if we were marooned on an uncharted island in the South Pacific.

The line is busy. I have never seen a line so busy. If I had that much business at the office I'd need four secretaries to handle it—and could soon afford to retire. Unless someone with a net came and got me first.

I had a vague notion that among teen-agers it was only the girls who developed that mania for tying up the telephone. But it isn't. Sometimes there are girls on the other end of the line, but apparently they are not at all essential. What these young high school kids have to talk about for hours on end I can't imagine. But I'm beginning to imagine all sorts of things other people might want to talk to me about if they could horn in on the wire.

You never can tell when somebody might be trying to notify us that a relative or friend is sick or badly hurt. Some radio quiz-master might be trying to give us a trip to Tahiti and a year's supply of deodorant if I can tell him Franklin Roosevelt's middle name.

A neighbor could be calling to advise us that our roof is on fire. Maybe a lawyer wants to tell me an unsuspected uncle has left me a million dollars. The office might be trying to let me know that Malenkoff's dead. Possibly somebody is scouting around for a couple of extras to fill in at a turkey dinner. The doctor could have decided that he misread the X-ray films and that what he took for a shirt button was really a gallstone.

Any number of people might have important tidings of this kind to communicate to me in a hurry. But they'd never get in touch with me except by messenger.

Between four and 10 our house, except for one member of the family, it is as if Alexander Bell had never lived. And I don't mind saying that a little of this splendid isolation goes a long way.

I can remember when I used to think it was cute that the kids had learned to use the telephone. It seemed so much more civilized a way of conversing with their little friends than hollering out the upstairs window.

But what's the good of civilizing a kid if it cuts everybody else off from civilization?

Latest Comic to hit the top rung of television is dead-pan, unfrenzied George Gobel, who says he got his name because he was the only one of sixteen children who wasn't allergic to the sound of "George." "I really wanted to be Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.," he adds, "but somebody beat me to that one."

A typical introduction to a Gobel monologue goes something like, "This program is being carried as a public service to our armed forces at Helsing Bar and Grill. And here's a special word to our fighting men: Stop fighting!"

If you haven't seen Gobel trying to find a place for his private bowling ball, or explaining an electronics machine, or befudding an old pro like Boris Karloff, you've missed one of the most refreshing personalities on TV.

Emergency Price, Rent Controls Being Delayed

Washington, February 2—Another momentous debate is going on in inner White House councils in connection with the Formosa crisis.

This time the discussion is over the problem of emergency economic controls.

President Eisenhower has decided to delay such legislation, pending the outcome of the cease-fire effort in the United Nations.

Congressional leaders had been previously alerted to expect a special message this week urging the prompt enactment of standby price, rent and wage controls. They now understand that, on the advice of a cabinet subcommittee, this plan was laid aside for further consideration after the UN situation becomes clearer.

The cabinet group was named by the President to draft the message and proposed control legislation. Principal members are Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, and Defense Mobilization Director Arthur Flemming.

They strongly counseled against placing this touchy issue before Congress at this time for three reasons: (1) It might cause alarm in the U. S. and abroad that war is imminent; (2) precipitate a wave of buying and price boosting with resulting serious inflationary disturbances; (3) reopen the argument in Congress over the Formosa policy and permit opponents to intensify their fight against it.

Congressional leaders have been told what the President has determined to hold this matter in abeyance for the present, there is still considerable variance over it among his advisers.

Mobilization Director Flemming is credited with warning against delaying too long in seeking standby control legislation; that unless this is done soon, Congress may not do anything about it this session. Flemming is pointing out that what happened the last time the President proposed it.

Secretary Humphrey favors controls on a standby basis for use in the event of war, but does not deem it advisable to seek them now. Secretary Weeks is described as against controls in any form until they become mandatory.

Flemming and his staff have prepared several drafts of the proposed message and legislation, consulting with the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Congressional leaders have been informed that the latter support the view of Secretary Humphrey and Flemming on the desirability of standby control measures, but are taking no position on when they should be put up to Congress.

Note: Edward Phelps, an important price official in the Truman Administration, is assistant price stabilization director in Flemming's industrial mobilization agency.

How it started—November 13, 1954 was the beginning of the sequence of events that culminated in the stand of the U. S. against Red aggression in the Formosa area.

On that day the State Department received a detailed report on Premier Nehru's visit to Peking. The account of his talks with Premier Chou En-lai and other Communist moguls, finally resulted in the fateful decision to seek congressional approval of the joint resolution to defend not only Formosa but other Nationalist-held islands.

Following is the historic chronology as outlined in a private memorandum to Congress:

According to this account, Nehru returned from Peking with three principal impressions: The Reds were planning to seize all the Nationalist's coastal islands, including Quemoy and Matsu; the Communists had no serious thought of taking Formosa and the Pescadores, because of the presence of the U. S. Seventh Fleet; the Reds did not want a full-scale war with the U. S. because of disturbed conditions inside China.

Nehru's views paralleled information from equally authoritative sources; also military intelligence in the Formosa area. At that time, the Reds were building up their air and naval forces opposite the Tachen Islands.

President Eisenhower, Secretary Dulles and Pentagon leaders deliberated the Nehru and other reports for weeks.

One of the reasons for Ambassador Charles Bohlen's special trip from Moscow was to participate in these consultations. Admiral Radford's extensive tour of the Far East in late December was also directly related to these White House deliberations. The head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff was sent out there for the express purpose of making a first-hand survey for the National Security Council, the top policy agency headed by President Eisenhower personally.

The unpublished congressional memorandum indicates that Radford's views played a major part in the decision to include the Quemoy and Matsu Islands in the Formosa perimeter that will be safeguarded by the U. S.

My New York

New York—A new school has just opened in Manhattan. A searching look into my crystal ball indicates that it is headed for tragedy and disaster.

Patterned after similar set-ups in Los Angeles and Detroit, this institution is called the New York City traffic court school. Its students, presently numbering 20, are drivers who have admitted to guilt in such offenses as driving without a license, failing to buy an auto use stamp and so on. In a way, they are compulsory enrollees in the school for a seven-week course. If they said no, they faced jail and/or fine.

Operation under the aegis of an optimistic chief magistrate, none of John Murtagh, the school will try to pound into their heads the need and the way to observe traffic regulations. The students—who include a couple of cabbies and some truck drivers will be psyched, tested for hearing, sight and reactions, and lectured.

It is Murtagh's plan to attempt to "substitute education for punishment." At term's end, the students will be tested and given marks. "Good students," Murtagh adds, "will get good treatment." Bad students, it is assumed, will get the clink.

Odd note is this: All 20 members of the first group—Class of early March, to speak—are men. Exactly what will happen when the first woman driver is enrolled?

I mean—can't you just see the reaction when a lecturer, say a traffic officer, begins by saying, "Now, in the first place, all New York automobiles must display an auto use stamp?" There would be the clear, candid look on the woman driver's face, the raised

Milk Price Fixing Due For Battle

—by H. G. Heller

Rep. Van D. Yetter, D., Monroe will soon be in the thick of a controversy centering around a new bill before the 1955 Legislature which would take away the power of the State Milk Control Commission to regulate milk prices.

The new proposal—first of several promised by legislators—would virtually destroy the commission's influence over the milk industry if enacted.

It is another point of contention in a feud of long standing between metropolitan milk buyers and rural producers and dealers.

While the measure would eliminate price fixing, it would not affect the commission's authority to investigate or regulate production, transportation, manufacture and other steps in bringing milk to the consumer.

Farmers and dealers organizations are strongly in favor of retaining the commission's price regulatory powers, with possible changes in administration procedure. They claim abolition of the price fixing power would throw the state open to unfair competition from neighboring states, which have lower standards for milk production.

On the other side, metropolitan consumer interest argue that price fixing discriminates against the consumer and sets up a state-government cartel.

Rep. John J. Vaughn, R-Albion, a Pittsburgh salesman, reflects in his bill the current movement in that area to bring milk prices down for the consumer. He has backing for the plan in the Senate.

There's no question of action from other quarters on this proposal.

A few months ago we discussed milk price fixing and milk cost to the consumer—but on a much broader level—virtually a nationwide level which involved the matter of high prices in the face of the large surplus of milk and other dairy products.

The gist of our recommendation was this:

Eliminate any price fixing which places controls at the consumer level, but apply controls which would guarantee the farmer-producer a sound price which would protect him.

Add to that a concentrated program of efficient handling, better sales promotion which would include larger bulk sales at better prices to the consumer, and there would be virtually no need for price fixing at the consumer level.

Anyway, Mr. Yetter, now a member of the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industry, can expect some interesting days on the question of milk price fixing.

hand and then the brisk, "Why, teacher?"

So the traffic officer will try to tell her why, and she will say with finny and scorn, "The whole idea seems silly, to me."

Perhaps an instructor will begin with, "You people must understand that parking summonses are not tagged onto your cars to give traffic cops exercise in writing. If a summons says you have parked by a hydrant, that means you must in your check for 10 blocks. Is that clear?"

Our female friend's hand will go up again and she will say, "That's all right in theory, teacher, but after I've driven around the block twice and there's no place to put my car except on top of another car, I'm going to park it at the hydrant. Is that perfectly clear?"

Getting down to more rudimentary things, the instructor may tell the class that even if it pains them, they must give a signal when turning right or left. "I have never," our delicate and bewitching doll will comment out loud, "made absurd signals like that in my life and I have no intention of starting now. So you can just forget any ideas you have along those lines."

Maybe the teacher will get right down to rock-bottom fundamentals. "Now this," he will say, pointing to the chart, "is the footbrake. To stop the car, you step on it." "Can't you see Bloddy right now?" "I'm glad you brought that up teacher," she will say. "Now, I think that's the most ridiculous place imaginable to place an automobile brake. Why couldn't have it been put in a more logical place?"

Home Construction Program Is Outlined To E. S. Council

Contractor Plans To Build 90 Houses

EAST STROUDSBURG Council named a representative committee consisting of the street and water department officials and the borough engineer to meet with an Allentown contractor Saturday at 10 a.m. concerning a plan for building new homes presented at the council's monthly meeting last night.

The construction project calls for building new homes on 90 lots in the Normal Hill section with water supplied by the borough. The contractor would install the curbs and sidewalks.

Council members studied a map outlining the plan to build a block at a time. The houses would be put on 65-foot lots and sell from $12,600 to $14,000. The contractor said he would build a sample home first and continue from there.

Ordinances were passed on the police pension plan, the impounding of loose dogs and junkyard regulations. Plans were completed for the extension of Warren Street with the borough establishing a passable road.

Councilman Elton P. Hall presented the following financial report: water fund, $57,099.37; general fund, $7,097.91; highway fund, $1,279.76; and parking meter receipts, $993.54. Burgess Jesse Flory announced the borough police department collected $250 in fines during January.

The board passed motions to purchase needed pipe, set up needed street signs, install 60 new meters in the business district, and investigate expanded parking. Council will meet with an Easton planning authority Feb. 11 to discuss ways for establishing a large parking lot in the near future.

It was voted to spend $697.50 to purchase a 100-pound chlorinator and $252 for work on an alley near the Ronson plant.

Thomas Kistler appeared before council in behalf of the East Stroudsburg Civil Defense group and was granted permission to use the council chambers for future CD meetings.

Plans were discussed for various street improvements. Flory reported a heavy traffic problem on Anankink St. The possibility was mentioned to have two-hour parking in that section and prevent parking at the end of Prospect St. Charles Bensinger was named to complete his father's term as solicitor. A report on the playground was given with numerous advancements anticipated in the future.

Considerable time was spent debating the issue of road work on Normal St. The fact that the East Stroudsburg Teachers College owns a small portion of the land presents a problem. Drainage difficulties in that area were also mentioned. Some sections were said to be almost impassable during heavy rains.

Woman Wins Several Prizes On TV Program

A STROUDSBURG woman got a chance to prove that "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friends" yesterday on a WOR-TV program in New York.

She was Florence Eldridge. She's a resident of the Penn-Stroud Hotel and an authoress.

Yesterday she went on WOR's "Keys To The City" program and ended up with everything but—the keys to the city.

Among the prizes she carried away: a diamond pin, a diamond watch, a two-carat diamond-studded pen and pencil set and a two-week, all expense trip to New Orleans.

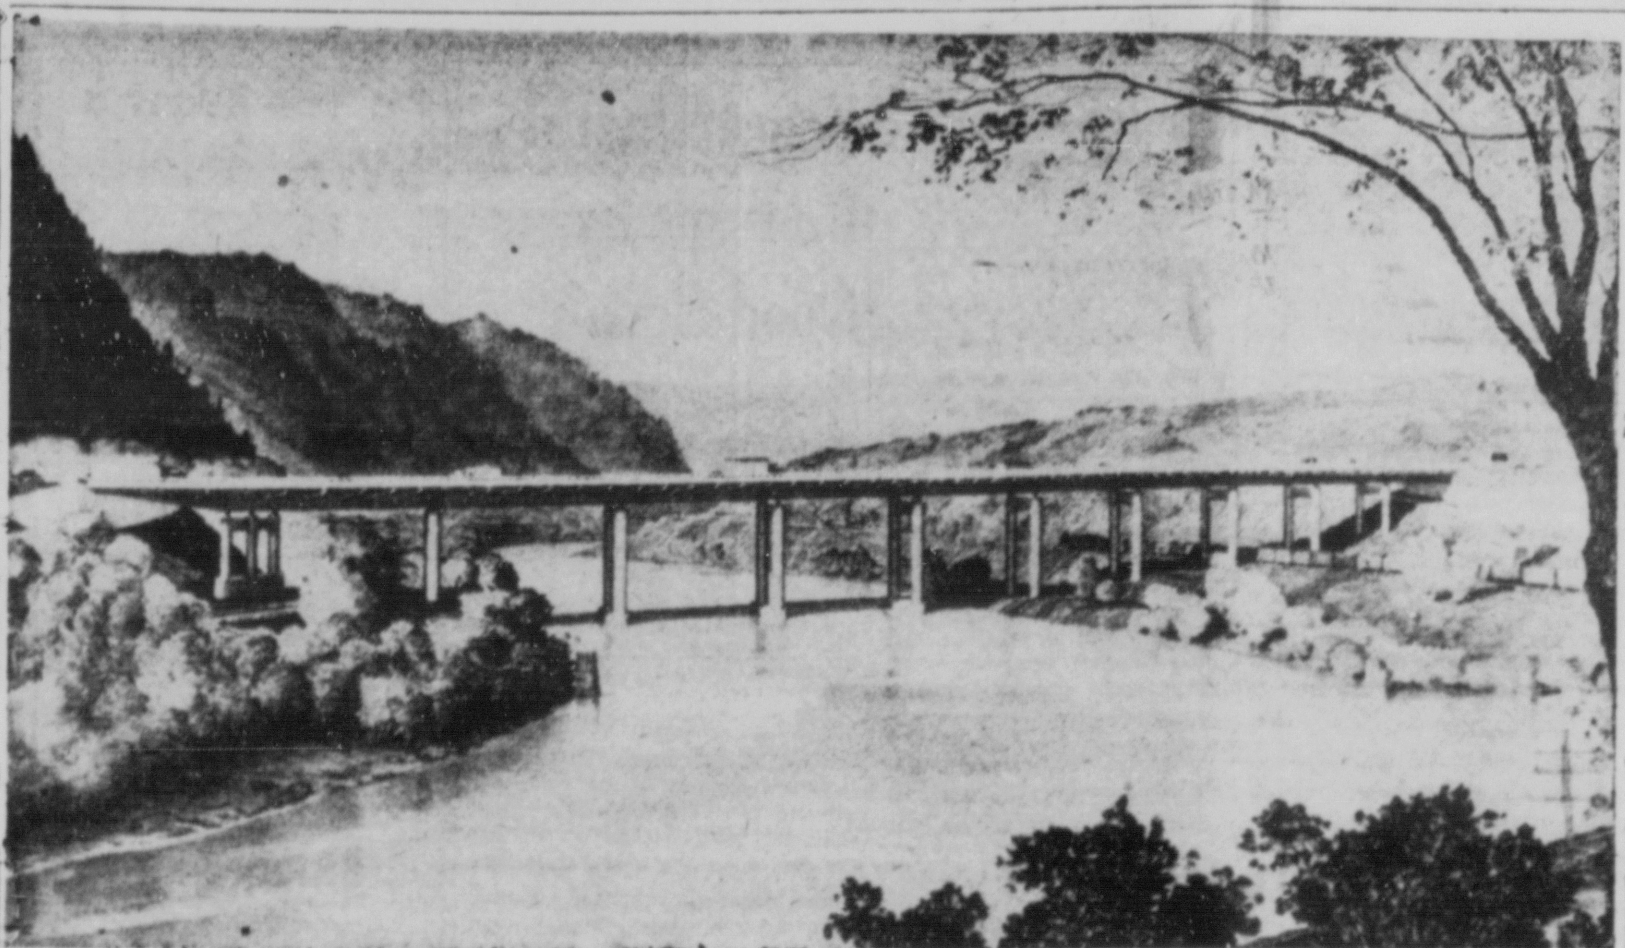

Oh, yes, And an orchid corsage. No diamonds attached to the flower.

Properties Sold In Townships

TWO TRACTS of land were sold recently, according to deeds recorded at the office of Floyd Butz yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron T. Smith, of Smithfield Township, sold property in that area to Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Tabler of the same township.

A lot on the Tannersville to Reiders road was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bowden, of Brooklyn, from Clyde D. Learn, of Stroud Township.

ABOVE, LOOKING northwest, is an architect's picturization of the bridge that will take the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike across the Lehigh River in Carbon County. The bridge will cross the river from Mahoning Township to Parryville Borough at a point approximately two-and-one-half miles down-river from Lehigh. On the north side of the river, right of photo, the turnpike bridge will have State Highway Route 29 and the Central Railroad of New Jersey right-of-way beneath it. On the south side the bridge will cross the Lehigh Valley Railroad right-of-way. The Turnpike Commission received bids Jan. 26 for Section 36-EP of the Northeastern Extension which includes construction of the sub-structures of the Lehigh River Bridge, the substructures of the Pohopoco Creek Bridge and the grading between these structures. Length of project is four-tenths of a mile. Unofficial low bidder was L&H Construction Co., Bethlehem, whose bid was $738,225—(Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission Photo).

Leg Fracture Suffered By Miss Burnley

MISS PATRICIA Burnley, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burnley, Shawnee-on-Delaware, suffered a major leg fracture this week in an automobile accident at Geneva, N. Y.

She will undergo an operation for the break between the knee and the hip by an orthopedic surgeon some time this week.

Miss Burnley, a student at Pennsylvania State University, was riding in the car of a friend, Eugene Griffin. The vehicle skidded sharply on ice and Miss Burnley was flung out on the pave.

The couple were due to be house guests of Miss Elizabeth Curry and her parents during the mid-year examination period. Miss Curry and her family formerly lived in Stroudsburg, while her father worked as an engineer on the Delaware Water Gap bridge.

Large Crowd At Recital

A NEAR-CAPACITY audience turned out at Stroudsburg Methodist Church last night to hear an organ recital by Dr. Frank Asper.

Candlemas Day To Be Observed

THE FEAST of the Purification of the Blessed Mother will be observed by Catholics today.

The feast is derived from the statutes of the law of Moses. According to those laws, a woman giving birth to a male child remained legally unclean for 40 days after the son's birth.

The woman then offered two turtle doves for her cleansing. Mary, mother of Jesus, underwent this penalty. Therefore, 40 days after Christmas, the Purification is celebrated.

Today is called Candlemas Day because on this day candles are blessed and distributed to the people. Candles will be distributed after the 7 a.m. mass at St. Matthew's and following the 8 a.m. mass at St. Luke's.

Two Alarms: One A Test, Other A Fire

THINGS GOT pretty alarming there for awhile last night.

Stroudsburg firemen started testing their alarm at 7 p.m.

Phone calls poured into the newspaper office wanting to know where the fire was. The answer was always: "Just testing."

At 8:30 the alarm blew again. This time it was for real.

Firemen arrived in time to nip an auto fire in front of Hintze's cleaning establishment before it could get started.

The car was operated by Ronald Bachman, Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg. Bachman, 17, said he ran out of gas. He and a friend got a gallon of gas; while they were pouring it in, the fire started, he said.

Seven Left Homeless In Bangor Fire

BANGOR—The Pysher family—a mother, father and five children—began trying to pick up the pieces of their fire-shattered lives yesterday.

The James Pysher home, Bangor, RD 3, was totally destroyed by fire Monday night. The blaze was discovered at about 8 p. m. by Mrs. Pysher and the children when they were sitting in the living room watching TV. It was believed to have gotten its start in the wall of an upstairs room.

The mother and children ran to the home of her parents for help. They tried putting the fire out themselves while neighbors called the North Bangor fire department.

Although two companies—one from Bangor—answered the call, the home and all the Pyshers' belongings were destroyed by flames. Pysher is an employee of a Stroudsburg hosiery mill.

Local Fishermen Experience Wet Canoe Trip In Everglades

PLANNING a trip to Florida? Okay. Take along a piece of advice from Russell Jones, 704 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, and Cresco's Vance Megargel.

Don't go fishing for snook in the Everglades.

Or, if you're the type of guy who has to look for snook in the middle of all those crocodiles, try to get yourself a guide who won't stand up in the canoe.

Jones and Megargel just came back from a Florida trip. While they were there—Jan. 19, to be exact—they decided to take a jaunt through the Everglades.

They had a good guide. An Orlando contractor who knew his way around. Caught lots of snook. Got some nice bass, too.

Along about sundown the fishermen slid their canoe up alongside a quiet, peaceful bank of the swamp. The guide assumed a standing position in the rear of the boat.

The boat assumed a sinking position. Shortly thereafter, Jones recalls, "I was in water clear up around my waist."

The three men waded to dry land, taking the rescued canoe along. They built a fire; dried out and warmed up. After packing the canoe again they took off for civilization.

Undaunted, they got back to their vacation homes at 11 p.m.—wet, wiser but not the least worried.

All the snook had been chained to the canoe.

Whatever the type of tribute you desire, we can provide a suitable Memorial of your selection.

Modernizing Homes Holds Much Interest

HOW TO MODERNIZE a house turned out to be one of the most significant although little noticed problems taken up at the recent Chicago convention of the National Assn. of Home Builders. If house-holders in general could have squeezed into that convention, which overflowed all the Loop's hotels, they would have rushed for that session on keeping homes up to date.

The builders were so enthusiastic about the more than a million new homes they are going to build this year that they had to be convinced that there is a lot of good business in remodeling our great majority of older homes—even though they'll be taking some of them as trade-ins on their new models.

One of the speakers—Sam Paul, a Long Island, N. Y., architect—told the hall by the horns and admitted to the builders "when you remodel an old house, you are in a sense competing with new homes."

He explained: "Every effort should be made to incorporate into the old structure as many as possible of the features that ordinarily are found in the sleek new homes of today."

From that point on, there was plenty of sound advice for every homeowner who would like to bring his house up to date.

The new housing law, which provides more liberal financing terms for modernization jobs, and the fact that the government generally is seeking to stimulate improvement of old houses were stressed by Architect Paul as working toward the advantage of everyone involved.

"Value received in a purchased modernized home," he said, "will be equal to, or perhaps greater in some cases than a new home—provided the renovation is carefully planned and carried out."

"Eight years ago, we were the architects in the remodeling of a white elephant in the village of Hewlett Neck, Long Island. The house, on a 3-acre plot in a very fine residential area, had been purchased for $10,000. Another $10,000 was invested in the modernization. When the job was completed, the owner was offered $30,000, but didn't want to sell. Today, that home is worth $50,000."

"There is no home that cannot be remodeled, but the cost factor in modernizing may not warrant the job. In that case, you stay away from it."

Being an architect, he naturally emphasized the importance of having an architect on any remodeling team. Why not? Design has played a bigger part in hastening the obsolescence of homes in the past 10 years than it ever did before in a quarter of a century.

And since design is so important in new homes, you certainly need it in bringing any home up to date.

Why? Paul answered that question this way: "Many basic changes have come about in American family living habits in the past 20 years. We now have the problem of locating a television set . . . A family room, or recreation room has become almost mandatory . . . A very common deficiency in old houses is the lack of adequate bathrooms. To add another bath is costly, but it will increase the saleability of the house . . . Other deficiencies you can be sure of are the kitchen areas, auto storage and closet space . . ."

"The remodeled home also will require space for the do-it-yourself people—sewing area, workshop and hobby space."

Here's a summary of the principles Paul advocates for putting an older house in competition with new homes—"the same principles of good planning as applied to new construction."

1—Open planning. 2—Proper orientation. 3—Adequate light and air. 4—Ease of traffic circulation through the house. 5—Simple construction and good mechanical equipment. 6—Pleasing exterior.

Oil Executive Engaged To Wed Delmont Girl

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—Oil executive Julian Parker Flood of Greenwich, Conn., said that he is engaged to marry Wanda Goscinski, 25, of Stamford, Conn., but that no date has been set for the wedding.

Flood, 51, said a previous marriage ended in divorce three years ago, and that he met his bride-to-be through mutual friends.

Miss Goscinski, manager of a Greenwich restaurant, is a native of Delmont, Pa., where her father, Stephen, is in the wholesale lumber business, Flood said.

Flood laughed at reports he was a well-to-do socialite, said he entertains very little and his main hobbies are hunting and fishing. He is employed by Esso Standard Oil Co. as an assistant to the manager in the marketing department.

Pumice Rub Gives Dull, Satin Finish

TO OBTAIN a satin finish on painted woodwork, use enamel paint and then rub it to a dull finish after the enamel has hardened.

Finely ground pumice stone and oil or water are used for the rubbing. Dip a piece of felt in oil or water, then rub lightly. Use a stiff brush for rubbing moldings and carvings.

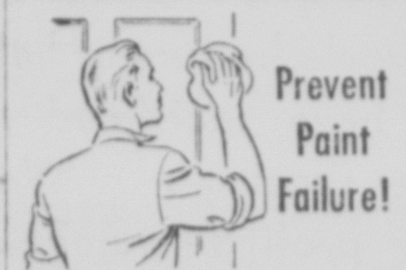

The finish will usually be duller if water is used. If oil is preferred, use paraffin oil or a light grade of motor oil.

Woven Footstools

A HOBBY growing in favor with women is the making of woven footstools. When the weaving is finished, two or more coats of thinned white shellac applied to the back of the stool will increase the durability.

Girl Who Copied Ike's Message Gets Apologies

REESE, Mich., Feb. 1 (AP)—History students in the junior class at Reese High School listened to the broadcast of President Eisenhower's State of the Union message to Congress on Jan. 7.

Elaine Solgat, 16, began whispering to a fellow classmate. As punishment she had to copy the 7,700-word speech in longhand.

It took her nearly a week to complete the task. Then she sent it to the President.

"I thought he might have covered the same ground with fewer words," she said.

Elaine got the copy back today. Written across the top of the first page was this message:

"To: Elaine Solgat—with profound apologies for the length of this speech to one who was given the task of copywriting. With best wishes from Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Determine If Wiring Is Adequate

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer

IF YOU ARE thinking of renting an apartment or a house in this electrical age you had better investigate the wiring.

Men are aware of the pitfalls of overloading electric circuits. But don't think they'll ever pass on the word to the little woman who is kitchen mechanic all day long. Husbands are likely to believe their little dears are too dainty for engineering problems.

Most women who are custodians of this home equipment don't even know how to change a fuse.

One young housewife who planned a dinner for some gourmet friends spent days drooling over menu preparations and then at the crucial moment blew her apartment fuses. She had her own things cooking that she put her entire apartment house in the dark for an hour.

She had an electric broiler, waffle iron, percolator, stove, dishwasher and garbage disposal juicing away while in the living room the air conditioner and television set were on.

That is one of the things that can happen when circuits are overloaded. A recent survey by a New York City utility company showed that more than 40 per cent of apartment dwellers were reporting that home appliances were getting difficult to cope with.

You may spot impending difficulty by observing lights flickering and dimming, appliances operating more slowly or not as well as they should, radio volume dropping, toasters and other appliances warming up slowly. Frequent blowing of fuses or tripping of circuit breakers are signs worth observing.

One way to get a general idea of the wiring capacity of your house is to look at wires leading from the pole in the street to the side of your house. Two wires indicate a 115 volt power supply; generally run through 30 ampere fuses or circuit breakers with a total capacity of 3,450 watts, according to wiring experts.

You can determine fuse size by unscrewing top fuses on the panel board in the basement where the wires enter the house, and reading the number stamped on the brass base. To find wattage, multiply this figure by 115. Thirty ampere main fuses will permit the use of a refrigerator, washer, some electrical housewares, a television set, lighting fixtures and floor lamps.

Three wires running into the house mean that a 230 volt power supply is available. If these are

Crawl Space Gives Off Moisture

IN BASEMENTLESS houses, with the earth uncovered beneath the house, the "crawl space" frequently becomes a dangerous source of excess moisture. This crawl space — the area underneath the house between the floor and the ground, often can give off as much moisture as all other sources combined.

If allowed to go unchecked, this excess water vapor can rise to penetrate structural members and do severe damage.

This damage, however, can be forestalled.

Two good and elementary methods are recommended by experienced builders: Either surface the bare earth under the house with waterproof concrete—or cover it with 55-pound roll roofing, lapped three inches.

Ample ventilating grills should also be provided to give air free movement throughout the crawl space area.

Read Before You Paint
TWO MINUTES spent in reading the label on a paint can may make the difference between a satisfactory paint job and an unsatisfactory one. As the manufacturer wishes you to obtain good results, he gives you all the help he can. Everything stated on the label is usually important.

Every retired person should have a new career or hobby to occupy his spare time.

provided with 60 ampere fuses or circuit breakers, the electrical capacity is 13,800 watts. You can use all the equipment okayed for the 30 ampere main fuses above plus an electric range, water heater, automatic washer, additional electric appliances, more portable light fixtures, more lamps.

The three-wire circuit with 100 ampere capacity gives you 23,000 watts to draw from. This system is considered adequate for today's electrical requirements, say engineers. It supports all the items mentioned beforehand plus a dishwasher-sink unit, garbage disposal unit, laundry drier, 3-horsepower air conditioning unit, more housewares, auxiliary house, heating, power tools and additional lighting equipment.

Fence Should Be Kept In Good Repair

A FENCE can add or detract a lot from the appearance of a house so unless you want the neighbors to talk, keep it in good condition.

The most vulnerable part of a fence is that portion of the posts that are below ground. If these are not treated with some sort of wood preservative such as creosote they will quickly rot away and there goes a section of the fence.

The posts must be set deep enough in the ground to provide sufficient support. If soil conditions prevent your digging deep enough, then the post can be set in concrete.

The concrete will not, however, necessarily prevent the posts from rotting, so treat them just as if they were to be sunk in the cold damp ground.

In case a post should rot or break a repair can be made by driving another post or a length of angle iron in back of the bum post and bolting the two together. A broken or sagging gate post can be repaired in the same general manner.

A fence should be kept well protected from the weather by paint and when you do this little job replace any loose or rusty nails. This breaks up the monotony of painting.

When a section of fence begins to sag it can be pulled back into position and held with the help of diagonal wood braces or guy wires.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There are few more exasperating things to a housewife than to have the coffee timed to the minute—to perk just so long and to stay just so hot—and then to pour it out with a flourish and discover that she'd forgotten to add the coffee.

Everybody has his lapses, of course. Even Marjorie Hamblin, the ever efficient, went merrily on a tour of the west taking numerous color shots of the scenery as they passed using up roll after roll of expensive film, only to discover that she'd left the shield on the lens.

However, the thought of other peoples' troubles don't seem to ease my own. And yesterday was the day they sort of multiplied. There was the tape recording for instance—the one Mrs. Ingersoll and I made for use during that coming vacation.

It was one of those interviews that went just right—the right questions and the right answers and the right timing. So what happens? The wrong microphone was turned on and we alternately boomed and strangled, sort of.

Add to that the fact that with the social page neatly made out and every story fitting like a jigsaw puzzle, one of the ads failed to turn up and there was the whole job to do over again.

Some days—Well, maybe groundhog day will be better.

Paradise Women's Society To Conduct Service

Henryville — On Thursday night the January meeting of the Paradise Women's Society of World Service was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Lindstedt. Following the call to order by the president, prayer was offered by Rev. C. F. Spangenberg with scripture being read by Mrs. Martha Henry.

The group completed plans for the observance of World Service Day, with a special service to be held in Pocono Union Church on Sunday night, Feb. 6, at 8 o'clock. Using the order of service given in an issue of the "World Evangelist," each member was given a part in the program, with the message to be delivered by the pastor, The Kokee Chapel Choir, with Mrs. E. Besecker as accompanist, will sing two numbers.

Under new business, annual dues were collected and as is the custom, the group decided to save Lincoln pennies during Feb. to be sent in to the Red Bird Mission in Kentucky. It was agreed by all members present that donations of $5 be sent to the Bible Club Movement in Monroe Co. area, and also to the March of Dimes Fund. Since World Day of Prayer is scheduled for Feb. 25, the group agreed to hold the Feb. meeting that night rather than the usual Thursday night date. The meeting in Feb. will be held at the home of Mrs. Laura Goll and daughter, Winnie.

Mrs. Richard Post presented the program on the subject "Telling Something New," when she "introduced" the members to the people in India, Pakistan, and Ceylon. At the close of the program Mrs. Post offered prayer for the people in these lands. An offering was received.

A variety of refreshments was served by the hostess. Those present were Rev. C. F. Spangenberg, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Richard Post, Mrs. Paul Barry and the hostess, Mrs. Walter Lindstedt.

Dior Flattens H-Line To A New A-Line

Paris—Christian Dior has proved that he really meant business last season when he introduced his flat look. He has made it even flatter this year.

But, as if to demonstrate by contrast how much there is to flatten, Dior in his spring and summer collection yesterday included three dresses with plunging necklines that really plunged.

In the eight collections shown so far, four designers have avoided the flat look—Patou, Carven, Manguin and Balmain but four others are all for it—Dior, Hein, Maggie Rouff and De Givenchy.

The Dior collection, which he has labeled the "A-line," was enthusiastically received by a jam-packed press audience. Much of the applause was merited because the models were expertly put together and eye-plugging.

A typical 3-piece daytime costume, done both in grey flannel and beige shantung, has a knife pleated skirt, a fingertip length jacket and a sleeveless pullover. Suit jackets in general are hip length, with four or six buttons, closely fitted and narrow shouldered.

Sleeveless or very short-sleeved models predominate. Shantung, linen and cotton tweed are used in most of the daytime models. For late afternoon and evening, there is a wide variety of soft-toned prints, particularly attractive in silk organdie.

Much attention is given to the youthful, full-skirted, flowered organdie afternoon dress and to the short evening dress. Materials for the latter are often as elaborate—embroidered and jewel encrusted satins—as those usually seen in the most formal winter ball gowns.

Church Groups Take Over For Vacationing Pastor

Bartonsville — Rev. and Mrs. LeRoy Bernard, of the Tannersville Methodist charge, are now vacationing in the Southern States. During their absence, the various organizations of the church are in charge of the worship hour.

On Sunday morning, February 6, it has been announced that the service will be conducted by the Sunday School with movies of a religious nature, including "Daniel in the Lion's Den." On February 20, the Women's Society of Christian Service will present a program.

As our civilization become more technical, our visual needs are more precise. In hundreds of ways civilization depends more on vision than earlier generations.

Daughter Of The Treibles

Mrs. Arlington Wertheiser, who with her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday night with a family party at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Treible.

In the story her parents were erroneously listed as Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Turn in whose home she grew up.

Music For Small Child Co-op Theme

Mrs. Wendy Mazer, music teacher at Stroud Township Schools, presented two of her pet ideas on music at the January meeting of the Pocono Playschool Co-op parents held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bixler, Stroudsburg.

Group participation and music in the home are two of the best ways to make music a part of a child's life, Mrs. Mazer explained. Music is everywhere for those with ears to hear it, she pointed out, even in tapping different kinds of wood.

Singing in tune is usually developed in first grade, she said, although some children do not sing in tune until fourth or fifth grade.

Mrs. Mazer also stressed the importance of having the right kind of records for children, and the importance of having an instrument of his own if he is musically inclined.

A question and answer period followed Mrs. Mazer's talk. At the business meeting with Mrs. Berta Katz presiding, Edward Telling was elected vice president until June when he will assume the presidency at the end of Mrs. Katz' term. Audrey Wilkins was elected secretary and Ruth Walz was elected member-at-large.

It was decided to have the February meeting as Father's Night, when the fathers will repair the toys in use at the school. The meeting will be held February 15 at the Stroudsburg Methodist church.

A bake sale at Wyckoff's Store was planned for February 26, with Mrs. Thomas Brestlauer as chairman. Mrs. Bixler, chairman of the recent rummage sale, thanked those who made it a success.

Refreshments were served by the committee after the meeting.

Cherry Valley Sets Dates Of Future Events

Cherry Valley — The Cherry Valley Grange at its meeting on Thursday at the hall in Stormville made plans for the dance to be held on Saturday, February 5. Mr. and Mrs. Heiney will furnish the music and Jingle Davis will call.

Other important coming events included a meeting of the officers of the Cherry Valley Grange with those of the Pocono Grange on February 12. They will meet both afternoon and night to make reports and plan for the progress of the grange and will also study code work.

The charter which had been draped in memory of I. W. Edinger at the last meeting was placed near the master's chair. Elizabeth Bond, who was among those initiated in the first and second degree at the last meeting, was welcomed. All new members will receive the final initiation at the next meeting to be held on February 8.

Because of the small attendance, refreshments were served "family style" around a large table. Richard Seidoff presided at the meeting.

Youth Dance Cancelled For Tonight

Brodheadsville — The regular dance scheduled for tonight by the West End Youth Center has been cancelled because of a wave of illness in the section.

Instead a special Valentine Dance has been planned to be held at the Chestnut Hill High School, probably on February 12, Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Smith, who was married in December, received many gifts from the group.

The devotional topic "Religion in the Home" was led by Mrs. John Tenda with Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr., president, leading the discussion. The next meeting of the society will be held at the home of Mrs. Steward Walters, Arlington Heights, on February 24.

Refreshments of "funny cake," made by the hostess, and a double wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Clyde White, were served with other refreshments.

Those attending were: Mrs. W. C. Walters, Mrs. Steward Walters, Mrs. Louise Landmesser, Mrs. Minnie Dalrymple, Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr., Mrs. John Tenda, Mrs. Stanley Heller, Mrs. Wilson Lee, Mrs. Fred Frailey, Mrs. Clyde White, and the hostess, Mrs. Smith and her daughters, Colleen and Sandra Lessig.

CARPET CHANGES

Cotton carpeting zoomed to fashion heights in a short time and is due for even greater success. When drab colors were replaced by clear, fresh ones that no other material could provide, cotton was on its way. Now, quality, quantity and variety have stepped up until practically every carpet mill has a tufting machine. These machines are responsible for the creation of fabulous effects on cotton rugs.

Letters To The Editor

Del. Walter Gap, Penna.
Feb. 1, 1955

Mr. James Riley:

Mr. Warren Madden, coach of Williams' Pharmacy basketball team in the Pocono Mountains League, seems slightly confused about which team seems to be getting away with mayhem on the basketball court.

I have a number of figures at my fingertips which indicate that the Williams' Pharmacy crew not only wind up almost every game with more foul shots taken than the opposing team, but I have reason to believe that they (Williams' Pharmacy) are the worst foul shooting team in the Pocono Mountains League at the present time. With the statistics of one game missing, Williams' have taken 251 foul shots from the charity stripe and have made only 127 of them successfully. This gives them a foul-shooting percentage of just over 50 per cent. In contrast, the opposing teams have taken only 263 shots from the charity stripe and have converted 117 shots for a percentage of almost 58 per cent.

If Mr. Madden will check over these figures he will find that the Pharmacy team takes approximately five more foul shots per game than their opponents.

Mr. Madden, if the Poconos are such professional-type players, please explain to me exactly how come in the first meeting between your team and the Poconos, the Pharmacy crew had 34 foul shots to the Poconos' 19 foul shots. Also explain how come in two games with Lake Harmony there were 137 foul shots taken, 82 by Williams' Pharmacy, yet, Williams' did not present a letter to the Sports Editor of the Daily Record, crying about what "dirty" players Lake Harmony had.

ICS History Reviewed At Club Meeting

MONROE COUNTY Industrial Management Club members heard an outline of the history of International Correspondence Schools last night.

John C. Villame, vice president of ICS, was the speaker at the club meeting held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Villame divided his talk into four phases: The correspondence school's place in education; a short history of ICS; ICS methods for teaching by mail and training application of ICS.

More than two million persons use correspondence courses throughout the world, he said. Such courses were first used in ancient Rome and in the training of Buddhist priests in centuries before Christ, he noted.

Illinois Wesleyan was the first school in the U. S. to use the learn-by-mail method, sending out its first courses in 1873, Villame said. ICS was started by T. J. Foster, Hazleton, who was at one time publisher of the Shenandoah Herald, a weekly newspaper.

The first ICS student was enrolled on Oct. 16, 1891. A year later there were more than 1,000 enrolled. The great-grandson of the first student recently enrolled for correspondence courses, Villame said.

The school has grown constantly over the years, he said, until today it offers 277 courses in many fields. The average student is now just short of finishing high school (11.9 grades) and 27 percent are college graduates.

In April, 1953 the school enrolled its six millionth student. Villame pointed out that the ICS textbooks

Woman, 100, Finds Ike Like Lincoln

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—A little old lady who knew Abraham Lincoln met President Eisenhower today on her 100th birthday and reported she found Eisenhower "very much like him."

Mrs. Nettie Angus Moulden, remembering back to when she was a girl of 10, said she recalled the Civil War President as "tall, very plain—old fashioned, he was."

She said she detected a similarity in Eisenhower "when I first came into his office."

Outside the White House, Mrs. Moulden posed for pictures and caused some momentary consternation by relating that Eisenhower had told her he thought he would return again in 1956. That information would rate banner headlines.

Here was the exchange: "Did the President say whether he was to run again in 1956?" "He said he thought so."

Camerasmen stopped their reels, and had the question put again.

Had the President really said he would seek reelection? "He didn't say so exactly, but I told him I hoped he would."

Mrs. Moulden was born in Washington and has spent most of her life here. Her father, J. W. Angus, was superintendent of building and grounds at the White House and Capitol when Lincoln was President.

are written by acknowledged authorities in specific fields. Material is re-written by trained ICS writers who reduce the language to an easily-understood common terminology.

Experts estimate that colds cost the United States about five billion dollars a year.

Stock Inquiry To Begin On Broad Basis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today the Senate investigation of recent stock market rises and their impact on the economy "will begin on a broad basis."

Fulbright is chairman of the Banking Committee, which will make the investigation.

"We are not trying to prove any wrongdoing," he emphasized. "Rather, the committee sincerely wants to learn about the present level of stock market prices to determine whether or not there is any cause for concern."

He said the hearings will start about Feb. 23, with an overall look at stock market problems, then swing into a study of specific phases and factors affecting stock prices.

The senator said he is sending questionnaires to selected experts asking their views on causes of the rise which started in 1953, and where it is heading or perhaps leading the economy.

It also asks how they would cope with the situation if they see dangers in it, any recommendations they may have for corrective actions, their estimate of how market fluctuations affect general business, and how general business affects the market.

N. J. To Name Committee On Dam Project

TRENTON — The New Jersey Assembly passed a resolution to set up a commission of four senators and four assemblymen to confer with Pennsylvania and New York on the Walpack Bend dam project for the Delaware River at Bushkill.

Another bill was passed and sent to Gov. Robert E. Meyner authorizing the New Jersey Turnpike Authority to build an east-west toll spur from Route 22 to Somerville to the pike near New Brunswick.

Sen. Wayne Dumont of Warren County introduced a bill which would increase the membership of the Delaware River Bridge Commission. His plan would call for the addition of four legislators to the group from New Jersey. He said he expected similar legislation to be introduced in the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

Dumont stressed that the additional members would help the Legislature keep in better touch with the commission. Two senators would be appointed by the president of the Senate and the speaker of the House would name two assemblymen.

The Warren senator also introduced a bill to permit employees of the Joint Toll Bridge Commission, the Interstate Sanitation Commission and Palisades Interstate Park Commission to be eligible for the Public Employees Retirement System.

Two other bills were passed in the Assembly but held up by Senate emergency rules. One called for the purchase of the Round Valley reservoir for the establishment of a water supply system, while a joint resolution was passed to create a six-member bipartisan legislative commission to study state water supply sources.

Dunlap Given Prison Terms For Thefts

WILLIAM DUNLAP III, 26, of Easton, will serve from 5 to 10 years in Northampton County Prison on seven counts of larceny and burglary. He was sentenced yesterday after pleading guilty to burglaries in Northampton County.

The crimes occurred in October, 1953, at various service stations and snack bars. Dunlap and three other men also are charged with a series of burglaries in Monroe and Lehigh Counties, Pa., and Warren County, N. J.

Dunlap still faces two charges in Monroe and three other burglary charges in New Jersey. He has a sentence of 1 to 2 years against him for a robbery in Allentown.

He served over a year at the Federal Penitentiary in Lewisburg for transporting a stolen car over state lines at Mexico in November, 1953.

Nelson I. Andrews, also of Easton; Cecil Lawler, 27, and Robert Hutchison, 22, both of Phillipsburg, N. J., are said to have been involved in the crimes with Dunlap.

Lawler is currently serving a 5 to 10 year sentence at the Eastern State Penitentiary on a combined sentence from Monroe and Northampton Counties, while Hutchison is in the same prison for 4 to 8 years on a similar sentence. Andrews is in the Northampton County prison for 2 to 4 years.

NPID Supports Channel Project

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission has added its support to efforts by Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware representatives to obtain funds to deepen the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton.

The governors of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware have scheduled Thursday morning conferences with their states' congressional representatives to discuss ways of obtaining an appropriation to get work started on the $1 million dollar dredging operation.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1955
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Neither rush nervously nor be lackadaisical, today's temptation. Keep attention to essentials necessary, also general consistency of effort but worry, apprehension are taken. You can attain the unreasonable.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Advice to Aries also helpful here now. You should be able to get along well with day's schedule and make grades anticipated, but don't expect nor strive for the unreasonable.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Because you often are restlessly active and usually like something new, different, be cautious to go sensibly slowly today to better value the right issue. And TACT.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Put your mind on urgent business or work tasks and don't worry or leave them for side issues. Day will respond generously to wise management and plans. Be hopeful.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Similar tendencies (and good possibilities) now to Gemini so same caution but not apprehension, are your watchwords. Your occupational duties and private interests are the most sponsored.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Stimulating for mental agility, originality and creativeness so it should be agreeable day for you and your activities. Dare to try what you feel is soundly practical.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Good indication for worthy and known matters. May have to urge self to tackle some tasks but the effort will be repaid. Freshly favored are useful manufacturing, building, science.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)—Scientific, government, civic, economic interests and matters pertinent to their quicker success highly honored for study, execution. A day for sound action and attainment, no nonsense.

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—Same matters endorsed for Scorpio now on your encouraged list. Be mindful of urgent duties which strongly include domestic problems. Fine results for right kind of effort.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Perk up! You have advantages, fresh opportunities today that may do not have. Of course HOW you manage them and the quickness with which you work to achieve will determine progress.

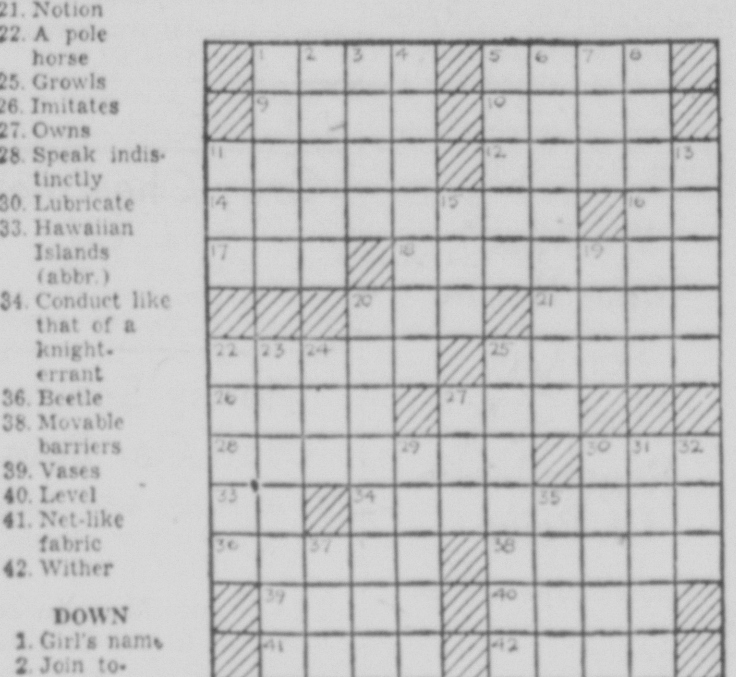

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Knit together firmly your initiative and all valuable assets, and put them to work on today's MUSTS. Also keep in mind as you plan and work the likely possibilities and outcome.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—May be a longer-term period for you but you still should enjoy and prosper some if working with its good aspects. Show your innate originality, foresight and keen judgment.

YOH BOHN TODAY: Two strongly different types of individuals are associated with this Sign of the Humanitarian-Aquarius. When rightly educated, your fine characteristics developed, you are a leader for great good and can succeed in profession, business, science, wherever you choose. Strengthen firmness of character, dependability and curb restlessness. Aquarius who forsakes spiritual development and indulges in wrong companions or idleness, becomes careless, restless, unreliable. KNOW THYSELF! Seek Divine guidance and you will be a credit to yourself, family, community. Birthdate: Fritz Kreisler, great violinist; Nell Gwyn, famed actress.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

MOST PEOPLE still don't believe it. But it is true.

And when you look into the facts, you'll find these two solid truths:

Buick is one of the "Big Three" in sales volume—and hotter this year than ever before. And Buick is one of the "Big Three" when it comes to prices which make such popularity possible. The price we show here proves it.

So why not get what a Buick has to offer, if you are in the market for a new car?

You find that the dollars you pay for Buick buy you a lot more automobile—and the sheer satisfaction that comes with bossing a brawny traveler of this caliber.

You find it in the record-high V8 power that gives life to this spirited performer. You find it in the soft and level and cruiser-steady ride that comes of all-coil springing and torque-tube stability. You find it in the extra roominess, the extra frame strength, the extra tread width, the extra silencing—all part and parcel of every Buick.

We could tell you about the little things, too. Things usually charged for as "extras" in other cars, but yours as standard equipment at no extra cost in every Buick. Things like direction signals, oil-bath air cleaner, full-flow oil filter, automatic lighting in glove and trunk compartments—and so on.

But—you get the idea. This is a buy, this '55 Buick—a great buy—and a thriller from the instant you press its gas pedal. Come in this week and check things for yourself, won't you?

*2-door, 4-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Delco-Racor . . . $81.70; Radio & Antenna . . . $92.50.
